LEWISTON'S DUKE

ITALIAN FALLS HEIR TO
ESTATE OF $58,000,000.

Married a Lewiston County Girl and Will Spend Much of His Immense Fortune Developing Idaho—His Wife Desires to Build an Electric Road From Lewiston to Grangeville—Will Visit Italy to Secure Possession of the Vast Estate.

The Lewiston Tribune gives the following story of a poor Italian of that city, who has fallen heir to a dukedom and an estate of $58,000,000 in his native country:

"I will erect a mansion on Normal hill and commence its construction as soon as my money is available to me," said Joseph Rossi yesterday. "The Waha irrigation project I will consider, but will provide the funds for the building of the electric road from Lewiston to Grangeville first."

Mr. Rossi is the gentleman who is soon to come into possession of an Italian estate, valued at $58,000,000.

Mr. Rossi spent considerable time in looking over the city yesterday and has selected property on Normal hill which he will endeavor to purchase as soon as his funds are available. The owner of the property he does not know, but he has selected the location he desires and will commence negotiations for the purchase as soon as he is prepared to talk business.

"I am now simply waiting the arrival of my credit books," said Mr. Rossi, "but will be ready to commence with my plans as soon as the necessary documents arrive. The building of the electric road is the desire of my wife and the investment will be made to satisfy her wish. We will commence the improvement of the ranch on Craig mountain on a large scale before we leave for our visit in California and will have the entire tract parked and made into a summer resort and home before our return from Italy. It is our intention to stay in Italy only a short time and will complete our business affairs as soon as possible.

"Mr. Polley and wife will accompany us on our trip across the waters and we will all be anxious to return to Lewiston, which will be the center of our investments."

The Polley family are old pioneers of the Lewiston country. Mr. Polley having been one of the protectors of the Anatone fort during the Nez Perce war. For many years the Polleys were engaged in the stock business and have taken their cattle over all parts of the country. As a result Mrs. Rossi is well acquainted with the wonderful country to be served by the proposed road from Lewiston to Grangeville, and naturally prefers to make her home in the country of her childhood.

The hills from Lewiston to the Bitter Root mountains are all familiar to her and she now desires to furnish the finances for the electric railroad that will develop the country that was once the stock range. The ambition is a most worthy one and Mr. Rossi has announced his intention of providing his wife with the necessary funds with which to build the road.

Progress on Road From Huntington to Ballard.

Baker City, Dec. 13.—J. B. Bowden of this city, who recently returned from a business trip to the Seven Devils country, reports that a force of men is now at work on the grade of the old Northwest railroad, along Snake river from Huntington north toward Ballard's Landing.

This road was projected several years ago and partially graded, but the company failed, and it has been in litigation for several years. Something over a year ago the road was sold on a foreclosure of a mortgage held by eastern people. The understanding has been that the grade was to be finished as far as the Iron Dyke mine and the road opened to traffic.

Mr. Bowden says the work is progressing favorably, and at the present rate it will not be many months before it is completed.

The Iron Dyke copper mine and other rich properties in the Seven Devils district are practically worthless without a railroad. These mines are in the same fix as the Cornucopia mine, as the cost of transportation by team is so great that the ores though rich, will not pay for mining and transportation to market. With the completion of this road down Snake river to Huntington, one of the richest copper mining districts in the United States will be opened.

Proceedings of Cotton Convention, Shreveport, La., Dec. 14.—This was another interesting and busy day for the delegates to the national cotton boll weevil convention. Two sessions were held and both were replete with features of interest. Among the papers and addresses presented were the following: "The Nation's Interest in Cotton," Edward Atkinson, Boston; "The Cotton Factories' Interest in the Boll Weevil," Hon. D. A. Tompkins, Charlotte, N. C., and "Cotton Transportation," E. L. Russell, of the M. & O. railway, Mobile, Ala.

A Frightened Horse, Running like mad down the street, dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, cuts, sores, eczema and piles disappear quickly under its soothing effect. 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

The ways and means committee of the Salem council estimates the city's income for 1905 at $45,050, and expenditures at $50,220.
